Oct 20, 2016 – Set in the fictional small town of Shirley, Vermont, Annie Baker’s play “Circle Mirror Transformation” brings together an unlikely collection of strangers who sign up for acting classes. And that's how the audience finds out about the characters' real lives and feelings - through formal theater exercises. The play opens tonight in the Recovery Lounge at the Upper Jay Arts Center, and continues this weekend and next weekend.

Todd Moe talks with director James Coleman, who says when he read the play and realized that it's set in a drama class, he immediately wanted to direct it.
